FARMERS WILL MAKE THEIR OWN MEAT

Can Raise and Cure at Less Cost Than Buying Western Goods.

THE PRODUCTS ARE BETTER

The Farmers of This Section Are Becoming Wise and With Cold Storage Facilities Will Show Western Packers a Thing or Two in a Few Years.

There will be something doing in the raising line in Alachua county se coming season, if the reports of armers from the various sections of the county are to be relied upon and he farmer will no longer be compelled so pay his grocer, or the man who "rons" him, enormous prices for meat for the itwelve months following next Pecember, at least.

The farmers of Alachua county, more strongly in some sections than in others, are waking up to their interests. They are beginning to realize that they can raise their own meats at a great deal less cost than buying bacon and are working to that end.

The introduction of cold storage in this county has accomplished a great deal in educating the farmer. He has discovered that meat placed on cold storage and afterward properly cured is not only better but a greal deal cheaper than the meat that is raised and butchered in the West, sent to Chicago, "prepared," seat to the South and sold at about four to six profits before it reaches his larder.

The farmer is beginning to realize that he can produce his meat at home, batcher it and bring it to cold storage at a small cost, take it out and cure it, and save from 50 to 75 per cent of the amount he is compelled to pay in the stores and has better meat besides. The cold storage facilities of this city assommodated thousands of pounds lest season, and the prospects are that the coming winter will double that amount. From present indications, at she progress the raising of meat is making, it will be necessary to increase the capacity within the next two years, notwithstanding there is a cold storage plant at Alachua.

These are modern times, and with he present advancement of the meat interests and the prospects for the fucare, the Western packers may need look for anything but a distressing decrease within the next few years.

High Springs Was Good.

The Gainesville junior baseball team, which visited High Springs Tuesday afternoon, are well pleased with the hospitable manner in which they were treated by the club of that town, as well as the citizens. Notwithstanding the fact that the Gainesville boys were victorious, the score being four to three, the visiting club was extended every courtesy possible, the refreshments even being free at every place in the city. Whenever a Gaineswille boy appeared for a drink and attempted to pay for it the assurance was always given that "the bill is paid."

The High Springs boys expect to come to Gainesville for a return game soon, and the junior club is anxious to give them a good time, which they will no doubt do.

Notwithstanding that the game was a junior one, it was well played, and better than a great many league games, if we are to judge by the score. It is said by those who witnessed it that the boys on both teams played excellent ball, and deserve to be congratulated.

"I suffered with a run down constitution for several months, and teared that I would have to give up my work

"On seeking the advice of a physician, he prescribed a tonic. I found, however, that it did me no good. On seeking the advice of our druggist, he asked me to try Peruna. In a few weeks I began to feel and act like a different person. My appetite in-creased, I did not have that worn-out feeling, and I could sleep splendidly. In a couple of months I was entirely recovered. I thank you for what your medicine has done for me." --- Elia Off.

MR. WALL WAS HERE.

Watchdog of the Treasury Pays Gainesville Friends a Visit.

Among the prominent visitors to Gainesville Wednesday was Hon, John P. Wall of Putnam Hall, representative in the Legislature from Putnam county, and who has become known throughout the State as the "Watchdog of the Treasury."

Mr. Wall is probably the best posted representative all-round in the House of Representatives. During his first time as representative from Putnam county, many years ago, he gained a reputation as an economist which stuck to him and which he continued to manifest at the session a few months ago closed.

Mr. Wall is well pleased with the progress of Gainesville, and, while he was a great advocate of the famous Buckman bill, claiming to be the founder of the principals upon which it was drawn, declares that he is glad Gainesville secured the University, because it was the most desirable candidate in the contest for several reasons, 'I worked for the success of the Buckman bill with all my heart," he said, because I believed it was a good bill and I yet believe it. It was through no desire to abolish the East Florida Seminary or no other State school, except for the consolidation of the educational interests of Florida, because I believed this step was necessary, not only to the economy of the State, but to the benefit of the young men and young women of Florida."

In speaking of the attempt of certain parties to show the unconstitutionality of the Buckman bill, Mr. Wall stated that he considered that absurd. "I studied that bill carefully and weighed every point, not only risking my own judgment, but the judgment of learned lawyers, and I can say frankly that I believe the bill will stand, and in my opinion it's all office and you can vote for your favor- foolishness to try to prove it unconstitutional at this time

Italians Want Shorter Hours.

New York, July 26. Workingmen to the number of 7,000 are out of employment at Terni, Italy, and the large armor plate rolling mills there have been closed owing to the demand of the workingmen for the eight-hour day. says a Herald dispatch from Rome. Steps looking to arbitration proposed by the government have been refused and it is the ight probable that a general strike in all the Balian iron and steel mills will ensue. Upon request of the prefect, a force of infantry has been sent to the provinces.
